_____ Approve Resolution No. 3341: Recognition of Attendance Awareness Month, September 2023

_____ Chronic absence has more than doubled since the start of the pandemic, from 8 million to an estimated 16 million students nationwide. That is one out of three students. Absenteeism has risen among all student groups, at every economic level. Black, Pacific Islander and Native American students, students living in poverty, students with disabilities and homeless students have been especially affected.

In Sacramento City Unified, student attendance was at an all-time low right after the pandemic with a chronic absence rate of nearly 37% in 2021-2022. The Care Team, which stands for Connect, Ask, Relate and Engage collaborated with site leaders and attendance staff to build relationships at sites and in the community. We created a culture of attendance and used real time data to make a positive impact for the first time since COVID. At the end of the 2022-2023 school year, Chronic Absenteeism decreased district wide down to 28%. That is about 3,000 fewer students that miss so much school they have a higher chance of dropping out before graduation.

Research shows that two to four missed days in the first month of school can predict chronic absence throughout the year. That is why we are here today. For the past 4 years we have recognized September as Attendance Awareness Month, this will be our 5th. Every day a student is in school is an opportunity to learn, build relationships and access support. The good news is that efforts to improve engagement and attendance can benefit our entire society. We all prosper when SCUSD students
